The Brady Bunch Bugle

Classroom News:

Reading:

We have been working hard at finding the main idea and supporting details of a text! Because this is a challenging skill we are going to practice one more week before we take the assessment. The assessment is long, so I am having the class complete it over two day, next Thursday and Friday. If you'd like to review this skill with your kiddo, using newspaper articles is a great idea. Or head on over to the classroom website for some resources. http://missannamariebrady-sclass.weebly.com/

Writing:

This week in writing we have worked on finishing our first draft. I have given students the choice about what they would like to write for this first piece. Next week, we will build a writing rubric as a class and assess our writing.

Math:

This week in math we have focused on two digit by two digit multiplication. Pending the results of the quiz that students are taking today, some kiddos will be moving onto division next week, while some may need some more practice with multiplication. My goal is for all students to master this skill!

Science:

Monday, we took the Chapter 2 science test. Grades are posted on Skyward and students have access to their assessment on Canvas. We have now started Chapter 3.

Note from Miss Brady :)

Monday, October 12 you are invited to sit in during our math workshop from 8:45-9:45. If you see this message, just shoot me an email that you will be here.

The November parent visit is scheduled for Thursday, November 19 from 10:45-11:35. This is during our writing workshop. Hope to see you then!

I have met with many families already, but I would like to schedule conferences in the coming weeks. Either before end of the grading period or early the second period. Before school on M, T, Th or after school M, Th after 4:30 or Friday. Please let me know what works. I can meet later as well!
